THE STORY OF TURKISH COFFEE

Turkish Coffee is a special type of coffee whose preparation and brewing techniques were created by the Turks. Possessing a unique taste, froth, aroma, brewing technique and presentation, Turkish Coffee rightfully deserves its well-known identity and tradition.

The first coffee was made in the Arabian Peninsula by boiling coffee cherries. The new method innovated by the Turks revealed coffee's true flavor and peerless aroma. Turks then introduced coffee to Europe, where it was prepared and consumed as Turkish Coffee for many years.

Turkish Coffee is made from high quality arabica coffee beans from Central and South America that are blended and carefully roasted, then very finely ground. The coffee is mixed with water and the desired amount of sugar and cooked in a “cezve”, or Turkish coffeepot. The coffee is served in small cups. The coffee must be left to stand for a short time after serving to allow the grounds to settle at the bottom of the cup.

In contrast to other brewing methods, it is especially important that the coffee comes to a boil while brewing. The finely ground coffee is brought to a slow boil over low heat.

Thanks to its strong body, delicious flavor and long-lasting aroma, a cup of steaming hot Turkish coffee is a guaranteed favorite with all coffee lovers.

Serving a cup of Turkish Coffee is a way of sealing a friendship. The preparation and care taken by a host in serving Turkish Coffee to his guests is an important aspect of hospitality. Acceptance of the offered cup of coffee is a source of pride for the person who offers it. The traces of this understanding are found in the Turkish expressions such as “his coffee can be drunk” and “I would drink a cup of your coffee”.
